PRISONERS START RIOT ON BLACKWELL'S ISLAND

Dissatisfaction Over the Food Caused Trouble, Which Started in Messroom.

1,000 MEN TAKE PART.

Plates, Cups or Any Other Thing at Hand Hurled at Official Heads.

A riot of 1,000 convicts against forty

The trouble began shortly after the prisoners had been sented for the evening meal. Growis were heard and then the opening signal was a flying in autck succession until the air was filled with plates, cups and food, all aimed at the armed uniformed men stationed about.

to the rescue of the keepers and were proportions of what looked like a general riot the keepers drew their revolvers and threatened to shoot the first man who made a move. Gradually the excited men subsided and were led to their cells.

Meanwhile an alarm gong had sounded in the prison yard, and keepers came running in from all parts of the big building. Ten minutes after the trouble began the situation the authorities, who did not wish to was under control.

Several reasons were given for the outbreak. One was that a number of ever, only after a final protest from the uglier prisoners had taken a Berkman, who contended that he was strong dislike to certain keepers be not sure of the identification of Berg —Klem and Emsile. strong dislike to certain keepers be cause of their enforcement of prison and Hansen, only parts of whose discipline. Another reason was that the convicts objected to the food.

The prison authorities said no keeper was seriously hurt. All the from the morgue and demanded that convicts were under lock and key long the bodies be held till the missing before 5 o'clock and a general investigation had been started by Commissioner of Correction Katharine B. Davis. tlis understood that Commissloner Davis will include in her investigation rumors that discriminaton is shown in the treatment of the men confined in the penitentiary.

Coroner Holds Court in Woman's Home and Commits Doctor's Wife to Prison Without Bail-Mrs. Carman, Her Husband and Father in Tears as She Stands Before Official and Enters Plea of Not Guilty.

Edward F. Bardes, a New Witness, Swears at Inquest Ha Saw Light-Haired Woman Wearing Dark Skirt and White Waist on the Carman Lawn and Heard the Report of the Shot.

Mrs. Florence Carman, the wife of Dr. Edwin Carman of Freeport, L. I., was arrested in her home at 3 o'clock this afternoon on a warrant signed by Coroner Norton of Nassau County, charging her with "causing the death of Mrs. Louise Bailey." The Nassau County authorities contend that it was Mrs. Carman who fired the shot into Dr. Carman's office on the night of June 30, which passed through Mrs. Bailey's body.

The warrant was served upon Mrs. Carman by Sheriff Pettit in the presence of District-Attorney Smith and Assistant District-Attorney Weeks. Coroner Norton followed the law officers into the house and as soon as the warrant had been served held court in Dr. Carman's office. sitting as a justice of the peace.

Mrs. Carman was represented by her lawyer, George N. Levy. She was formally accused of murder and committed without bail to the County Jail at Mineola.

At 3.15 o'clock Mrs. Carman, dressed in black and heavily velled. left the house, walking between her husband and the Sheriff, and entered an automobile in which she was taken to Mineola and locked up. Her step was firm as she crossed the lawn of her home and observers could detect no sign of a breakdown.

WARRANT ISSUED AFTER LONG CONFERENCE.

The warrant was issued after a prolonged conference following the closing of the inquest in which the Sheriff, the District-Attorney and Assistant District-Attorney and the Coroner participated. Mr. Levy was present part of the time. Coroner Norton was reluctant to issue a warrant. He said he wanted to consider the evidence. Finally Sheriff Pettit said: "You know what the evidence is. It is your duty to issue a warrant. If you don't I shall proceed to arrest Mrs. Carman on my own responsibility." Still the Coroner held back. He is a close friend of Mr. Levy and the Carman family. But when he saw that the District-Attorney was in earnest he made out a warrant and signed it. The warrant was signed at the Elks Club, where the conferences had taken place. The Sheriff, the District-Attorney and Assistant District-

Attorney drove at once to Dr. Carman's home. Mr. Levy had preceded them and had informed Mrs. Carman that a warrant would be issued. Mrs. Carman had been at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Conklin, who may not survive twenty-four hours. She received the news calmly, remarking: "I am perfectly willing to go." Dr. Carman was on the lawn of his home when the Sheriff's party arrived. The doctor had on a long automobile coat and a cap, in readiness for the ride to Mineola. Mrs. Carman had also attired herself for the trip.

As the Sheriff and the District-Attorney left the automobile Dr. Carman hurried into the house and informed his wife that the officers had arrived. She was waiting in the hall when they entered.

ALL ACTORS IN SCENE ARE NEIGHBORS. It was a tense and dramatic moment. The actors in the scene had been neighbors for many years. The voice of the Sheriff was unsteady as he read the warrant to Mrs. Carman. This ceremony had just been con-1000000000 cluded when Coroner Norton arrived at the house and announced his intention of holding court forthwith. When Coroner Norton entered the Carman home the warrant had been served and Dr. and Mrs. Carman were awaiting him in the hall. They led the way into the doctor's private office, where the murder occurred. The room was arranged exactly as it was the night Mrs. Bailey was shot through the window.

The Coroner was completely unnerved. The Carmans had been his friends for years. When he was charged with malfessance in his case
